

MERCÈ GISBERT CERVERA

Mercè Gisbert Cervera holds a PhD in Education Sciences and is Full Professor of Educational Technology in the Department of Pedagogy at Rovira i Virgili University (URV). She is an expert in the application of technology to education from a threefold perspective encompassing teaching, research and management.

She is the principal investigator of the officially recognised Applied Research Group in Education and Technology (ARGET) and the URV coordinator of the inter-university doctoral programme in Educational Technology. In this role, she has led more than 100 national and international research projects and has developed an extensive record of scientific communication and dissemination, having published more than 100 articles in high-impact scientific journals. She has also supervised more than 60 doctoral theses at a range of national and international universities.

With extensive management experience, she held several positions at URV between 1998 and 2010, including Vice-Dean of the Faculty of Education Sciences and Psychology, Director of the Institute of Education Sciences (ICE), Vice-Rector for Teaching and ICT, and Vice-Rector for Teaching and the EHEA.

She has been a visiting professor for research stays at the University of British Columbia (UBC) in Vancouver, Canada, in 2011 and 2015, and at the Graduate School of Education at the University of California, Berkeley, USA, in 2019.

She has also held management positions outside the university sector, serving as a member of the Catalan School Council (2012-2016), a plenary member and secretary of the National Council for Culture and the Arts of Catalonia (2012-2019), and a member of the Higher Council for the Evaluation of the Education System (2021-2024). She is a member of the executive board of the Catalan Society of Pedagogy (SCP-IEC).

She is a member of several international networks: Asociación para el Desarrollo de la Tecnología Educativa (EDUTEC), World Federation of Associations of Teacher Education (WFATE) and Association for Teacher Education in Europe (ATEE).
